

U.S. REALIGNS ARMED FORCES IN PACIFIC

Urges Legion to Take Another Look at Defense

A-Expert Says
Guided Missiles
Outmoding Planes

WASHINGTON (UP)—Rep. Carl Hinshaw (R-Calif.), a congressional expert on atomic energy, told the American Legion today that bomber planes, fighters and aircraft carriers are being outmoded by guided missiles and that "We may well be entering the era of true pushbutton warfare."

In an implied criticism of the Legion's continued support for Universal Military Training, Hinshaw said scientists now are more critically needed than soldiers. He urged the Legion to take a fresh look at defense planning keyed to manpower.

Hinshaw, a member of the joint House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee, told the Legion's National Security Commission that hydrogen bombs small enough to be fitted into guided missiles are in sight, as are guided missiles to carry them "unerringly" to targets around the globe.

First To Speak

Hinshaw was among the first of a long list of defense experts scheduled to address the commission at a two-day session preparatory to the Legion's 36th national convention starting here Monday.

The vanguard of an anticipated 150,000 Legion members and their families already was arriving for a four-day convocation to be highlighted Tuesday by a parade that will run "at least" 12 hours, dwarfing the mammoth procession that marked President Eisenhower's inauguration in 1952.

Mr. Eisenhower will fly home from Denver Monday to address the opening session of the convention. Top figures in government, industry and labor also will speak.

Despite Hinshaw's remarks it was a foregone conclusion that the Legion Security Commission, headed by Seaborn Collins Jr. of Las Cruces, N. M., a 41-year old World War II Air Transport Command pilot, would recommend that the Legion again go on record for a strong standing military force coupled with a program of UMT to train a big reserve.

Supports Research

Collins, who claims strong support for selection as the new Legion commander, told a reporter the 3,000,000-man veterans group supports scientific research looking to pushbutton warfare. But he said in the meantime it wants to be sure trained reservists—men who have not already gone to war once or even twice before—are available to fight as foot soldiers if needed.

Hinshaw called on the Legion to take a critical view of military demands for more men. In his prepared speech he also urged immigration support for a relaxed immigration policy that would open the door to more foreign-born scientists whose help he said we desperately need.

Hinshaw said atomic energy already has provided us "our main bulwark" against Communism, and now promises to revolutionize warfare.

World Council Official Criticizes Invitation by Congress Committee

EVANSTON, Ill. (UP)—Bishop Albert Bereszczy of Communist Hungary today formally rejected an invitation to appear before a congressional committee investigating Communist aggression.

At the same time, an official of the World Council of Churches told the committee chairman, Rep. Alvin H. Bentley (R-Mich.), that the invitation to Bereszczy, a delegate to the council's second assembly here, was a "clear impropriety."

Bishop Bereszczy sent a telegram to Bentley acknowledging receipt of a telegram inviting him to appear and rebut testimony given before Bentley's committee.

Jets Forcing Retirement of Combat B29s

DAYTON, Ohio (UP)—Time and progress will soon succeed in doing what America's enemies never accomplished. The jet bombers of the atomic age are forcing retirement of the last combat B29 in the Air Force.

The piston-driven workhorses of World War II and the Korean conflict are obsolete, and their outstanding example is logging her last air hours.

The Boeing Superfortress Command Decision will be retired from active duty with the Strategic Air Command immediately after it appears at the National Aircraft Show here Sept. 4, 5, and 6.

The four-engine Superfort is the "world's most decorated bomber," and it drew the show's biggest crowds here last year. Painted almost the length of her fuselage are badges of courage and accomplishment won in the air war over Korea.

Decision is battered and tarnished, but boasts a border of 121 bombs and five jet silhouettes on her nose, representing 121 combat missions and five enemy MIG15s shot down.

Not evident from the decorations is the plane's record of 1,500 combat flying hours while dropping some 2-1/2 million pounds of bombs on Korean military targets.

Decision sent three of the Russian-built planes down in flames in her first combat with the swept-wing MIG15, Oct. 17, 1951. The plane survived all fighter attacks, and all anti-aircraft hits.

Truman and Stevenson to Spark Party Bid

Will Take Stump
For Democratic Candidates This Fall

WASHINGTON (UP)—Former President Truman today was added to the lineup of Democratic bigwigs who will spark their party's bid to wrest control of Congress from the Republicans in November.

The Democratic National Committee announced the former President, who has been convalescing from an operation, will make his first major campaign speech at a Kansas City fund-raising dinner Sept. 16.

The committee said Mr. Truman has promised to take the stump for Democratic congressional candidates this fall "to the extent his health will permit." Party strategists had not known whether Mr. Truman's condition would permit him to play an active role in the campaigning.

Mr. Truman, famed for his "give 'em hell" political thrusts, will join Adlai E. Stevenson, the party's 1952 presidential candidate, and other big-time Democrats in an all-out drive to capture the 84th Congress in the November balloting.

Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell announced that Stevenson will fire his campaign opener at a rally in Harrisburg, Pa., on Sept. 8.

Although the fall schedule of the former Illinois governor is not complete, Mitchell said Stevenson is booked to speak: Sept. 15 in Cincinnati in behalf of Sen. Thomas Burke (D-Ohio), who is seeking reelection; Sept. 18 in Indianapolis, Ind., at a Midwest regional meeting of Democrats; Sept. 20 in Bloomington, Ill., and Sept. 24 in Evanston, Ill., both in behalf of Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), and Sept. 25 in Minneapolis in behalf of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.).

In unfolding details of Democratic campaign plans, Mitchell announced that the party's campaign speakers bureau will be headed jointly by Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) and Rep. Carl Albert (D-Okla.). Gore is a member of the Democratic Senatorial Committee and Albert is chairman of the Speakers Bureau of the Democratic Congressional House Campaign Committee.

State Society to Mark Site of Ingersoll Office

An historical marker in bronze marking the site of the law office in Raleigh maintained from 1855 to 1857 by Ebon Clark Ingersoll and Robert Green Ingersoll will be erected and dedicated by the Illinois State Historical Society in the near future.

Ebon Ingersoll was the older of the two Ingersolls practicing law in this county, and lived at Raleigh. Robert G. Ingersoll lived at Shawneetown and both lawyers used the Raleigh office for practice in the Saline county courts.

The building used as an office was on the north side of the present concrete pavement through Raleigh, and diagonally across the street from the court house there at the time Raleigh was the county seat of Saline county. It since has been moved north and west, and was for many years used as a garage by the late Ed Musgrave. The Ingersoll brothers moved to Peoria in the fall of 1857 and never returned to Saline county to practice law.

Churchill, Cabinet Discuss Problems

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill met with his Cabinet ministers today for the first time in four weeks to consider a mass of European and Asian problems.

Facing the Conservative government ministers was a decision on whether Foreign Minister Anthony Eden shall go to the Southeast Asian defense conference early next month in view of the European crisis.

The meeting also was to consider proposals that an eight-power Western foreign ministers meeting be held in Paris early next month to talk over the granting of sovereignty to West Germany and rearming the nation in defense of Western Europe.

Chinese Nationalists Rush Planes, Troops to Island After Raid by Red Forces

TAIPEH, Formosa (UP)—Nationalist China said today it was rushing more troops, ships and airplanes to Quemoy (Kinmen) Island, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's little bastion off the China Coast, which was attacked Monday night by Red Chinese raiders.

Nationalist spokesmen said troop reinforcements would strengthen the already heavily-defended little island which lies only 10 to 15 miles away from the mainland port of Amoy.

Air patrols have been doubled and the navy moved closer to the sloping beaches where the Red Chinese lost two divisions in a previous futile attempt to wrest the windswept island from Chiang.

Peiping Radio announced that a "naval party" of 40 men raided the island Monday and made a successful withdrawal after killing or wounding "more than 10" Nationalist Chinese soldiers.

The Nationalists said the Reds retreated hastily after they had sneaked ashore and had "kidnaped" a Chinese Nationalist.

Nationalist officials said the island would be defended to the last man, should the Red Chinese attack again in force.

The Nationalists have dug pillboxes 15 feet thick in solid concrete on the beaches and in the hills they have honeycombed every possible yard of land with overlapping machine-gun positions and modern artillery pieces.

Quemoy (Kinmen), Chiang's pride, is the largest Nationalist-held island within striking distance from the mainland.

The tiny island of some 50,000 population once was a haven for pirates who preyed on shipping along the China Coast. Chiang has laced the island with modern irrigation ditches and ordered farmers to wrest rice, soybeans and wheat from the barren soil. He has built a modern hospital and said it will care for the wounded when he returns to the mainland.

Earlier the Nationalists had called the Reds' raid claim "rubbish," but later acknowledged that a small-scale attack had been made. "This could be no means be termed an invasion or a major scale landing," the Nationalist announcement said.

The raid was the first action taken by the Red Chinese since their premier, Chou En-Lai, and two top generals warned recently that Chiang Kai-shek's island bastion of Formosa would be "liberated."

Wolfson, who in his short spectacular financial career already has gained control of corporations with assets of more than 200 million dollars, said he and his associates have been buying Ward stock on the open market steadily since early in 1954.

"We believe we now hold the largest block of shares in the company," Wolfson said. He did not reveal how many shares his group held but it is known that 90,000 shares are held by the Affiliated Fund, Inc.

Avery, who has held firm control of Montgomery Ward since 1931, owns only 64,336 shares of the company, less than 1 per cent of the 6,500,000 shares outstanding. Wolfson condemned Avery's management of Ward as "a glaring and notorious example of private enterprise in reverse gear."

He claimed the Montgomery Ward management "has blindly and obstinately hitched the company's future to a depression. He particularly criticized Avery's policy of setting up a 300 million dollar cash reserve in anticipation of a post-war recession which never developed.

Only Morning Period at HTHS On Opening Day

All HTHS students will meet in Bonnell gym Wednesday, Sept. 1, at 8:30 a. m. for preliminary announcements and instructions.

Following home room meetings and collection of registration fees, followed by shortened class periods, those whose programs are completed will be excused at noon. Those whose registration will not be completed and/or whose program require any revision will be asked to return Wednesday afternoon for help in adjusting any irregularities.

Students will need only $1.25 registration fee Wednesday. All freshmen and sophomores, except those in the band, will be assigned lockers with removable locks. These students should bring an additional $1 for lock deposit which is refundable when locks are returned.

Text books will not be rented until Thursday. Teachers will inform students at class meetings Wednesday of rental on textbooks so they will know the exact amount to bring Thursday.

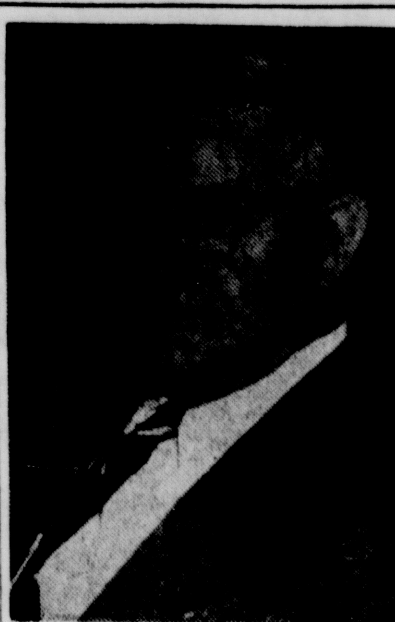

Buses will operate at the usual time Wednesday morning but will leave school at noon. Thereafter they will operate on regular schedule.

Due to this change of plans the cafeteria will not be in operation until Thursday, Sept. 2.

Judge Wham Studies Motions By Dale, Others

EAST ST. LOUIS (UP)—Federal Judge Fred L. Wham Thursday took under advisement motions seeking dismissal of labor racketeering indictments against six southern Illinois union officials.

Also taken under advisement were motions seeking the grand jury transcript and bills of particulars in four of the indictments. Attorneys for the defendants contended that allegations in the indictments do not constitute violations of federal laws.

The defendants are Evan R. Dale, Carbondale; Ralph L. Wright Sr., East St. Louis; Oscar L. Ferrebee, Lawrenceville; O. V. Rhodes, Danville; and Orell B. Soucie and Henry H. Highfill of Terre Haute, Ind.

Atty. Hunter J. Van Leer and Atty. George Nason of Terre Haute and Atty. James Bandy of East St. Louis argued a motion to dismiss indictments against Soucie, Ferrebee, Rhodes and Highfill, on grounds that the indictments were vague and did not charge a crime. All four recently were re-elected officers of their unions for four-year terms.

The government hotly resented the attempt of defendants to find out what charges were brought before the grand jury by government officials. The defendants contended that such secrecy was unfair and that if the charges had any merit they should be brought to light.

Secure Land for Lake; Work To Begin Soon

The city of Harrisburg today apparently was over the hump in its effort to secure an ample water supply.

Two parcels of lake land, which had not yet been secured, came into the fold yesterday afternoon. They were the Davis and Chamlerlain parcels. Deeds for the land was turned over to the city yesterday and the owners paid off.

J. D. Barter Construction Co., which has the contract to build Lake Harrisburg between Raleigh and Galatia, yesterday moved part of its equipment to the scene. However, clearing and concrete work must be done before the earthen levee is started.

Barter said that he is getting three weeks delivery on steel ordered just as soon as he got the contract and that concrete work must await its arrival.

A St. Elmo clearing contractor, who has a subcontract to do the clearing, said he would move his equipment onto the land Sept. 1.

Two Youths Charged With Theft of Pipe

Two youths, Donald Cozart and George Youther, yesterday were charged with petit larceny in an information filed in county court. They are charged with taking some steel pipe belonging to Daniel R. Davis.

Carrying Out Strategy Order By Eisenhower

Troops, Planes
Redeployed on
Key Pacific Islands

WASHINGTON (UP)—American officials said today that the United States is carrying out a sweeping realignment of its Pacific forces to develop the "maximum mobility" strategy ordered by President Eisenhower.

U. S. troops and planes are being pulled out of Korea and redeployed on key Pacific islands or the American mainland. The strength of the Pacific Fleet is being maintained temporarily because of Red China's threat to invade Formosa. But long-range plans call for its redeployment.

All this doesn't mean the United States is lowering its guard in the dangerous Far East area. Officials said it merely means this country is regrouping its forces to put them in the best possible strategic position to deal with any new, big fight that breaks out—whether it's in the Pacific or in Europe.

Announced in January, Mr. Eisenhower signaled the "new look" military planning last January when he told Congress the administration would deploy American armed forces to "regain maximum mobility of action."

"Our strategic reserves," the President said, "must be centrally placed and readily deployable to meet sudden aggression against ourselves and our Allies."

In practice this rules out heavy peacetime commitments of troops to an exposed area like Korea where they could be pounced on and possibly knocked out before an effective defense could be organized.

Consequently, there have been a series of rapid-fire moves in the past week to regroup the forces in the Far East now that the shooting wars have stopped.

Services Report Moves
The Air Force announced Thursday that a number of the Air Force units in Korea—principally fighter and light bombers groups—will be withdrawn to Japan, other Pacific bases and the United States.

The Army says it will pull four of its six divisions out of Korea, with two of the divisions to return to the United States and the other two shipped to Okinawa and Japan. Two other National Guard divisions were returned to the United States this spring.

The Navy has made a slight reduction in its Pacific Fleet but it has temporarily held up its plans for a further reduction because of the Formosa threat.

Victory Service By Methodists Sunday Morning

Sunday will be observed as V. Day by members of the Harrisburg Methodist church in recognition of one complete year in the building program and the official closing of one year's pledge giving.

A special Victory Service is planned during the morning commencing at 10 o'clock in the Orpheum theatre. No Sunday school will be held at Horace Mann school. Instead, all will join for the special service which will extend through the regular morning worship hour. All ages will be present in the one service, and a 100 per cent attendance is being sought.

The Campaign Continuation committee has set as a goal $100,000 paid into the building fund by the end of this Sunday—the 52nd Sunday of giving. The committee has announced that to date $87,500 has been received in pledges and contributions in the past year. With one Sunday remaining, a total of $125,000 is needed to obtain the goal.

A special program will include group singing, prayer and praise, special musical numbers, complete reports by every department, class and society. The building and financial committees also plan reports on the progress to date, and full information on these will be given the membership. Ken Evans, of the Evans Construction company, general contractors for the building, will also present a report.

A moment of recognition is planned for members who have passed away since the beginning of the building campaign.

Evening services will be conducted at the regular hour Sunday.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
Lord be merciful to me, heal my soul; for I have sinned against thee. — Psal. 41:4.

Failing to do our duty to take advantage of our chance to do a noble service is a sin of omission. There is none who has not sinned in that way at least.

The 83rd Congress

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
Though the air is filled with partisan boasts and criticisms of the performance of the 83rd Congress, most impartial observers are concluding that its record was on the whole a creditable one.

Certainly the 83rd was one of the hardest working assemblies since the marathon sessions of World War II. For the first time in a good while, Congress made a greater impact with legislation passed than with things and people investigated.

That is no small achievement when the Army-McCarthy hearings, the Reece inquiry into foundations and countless other investigations are taken into account.

Being a Republican Congress under a Republican President, this one must be gauged partly by what it did with President Eisenhower's legislative proposals. The White House claim of an 830 batting average may be somewhat extravagant, but it is clear the President did get a good share of his program enacted.

On the domestic side, Congress enacted the first flexible farm price support plan that seems to have a chance of being enforced. It approved broader and better social security coverage, a relatively limited health program, and measures for hospital construction, vocational rehabilitation and unemployment insurance on an improved scale.

It put through a general tax revision measure long overdue, for the nation's tax structure had grown up hodge-podge style and needed revamping to wipe out inequities and discouragements to incentive.

Less satisfactory was the new housing law, which fell well short of Mr. Eisenhower's requests in the public housing field. And, of course, Congress made no changes in the Taft-Hartley Act, even though the late Senator Taft himself had earlier proposed nearly 30 modifications in that basic labor law.

Other impressive work was the passage after long years of bitter controversy of the St. Lawrence Seaway project, and the adoption of a modernized atomic energy law giving private enterprise some role in future development and our allies more access to necessary atomic information.

Congress maintained the continuity of foreign aid, though it chopped the President's requests considerably. It extended the Reciprocal Trade Act for another year, after Mr. Eisenhower gave up trying for a three-year renewal this time, coupled with other liberalizing trade features. These he will seek in 1955.

Perhaps the greatest single disappointment from the Administration's view was the failure to enact statehood for Hawaii. This was killed when the Senate insisted on linking it with Alaskan statehood.

But on balance the showing was good. This Congress had a sharp eye for economy, voting $5.5 billion less in 1954 than it did in 1953, and about $26 billion less than the Democratic 82nd Congress. Its coloring was conservative in most areas of effort. Yet the significant thing is that there was effort. Critics will have many things to say of the 83rd. But they will be laughed off the platform if they call it a "do-nothing" Congress. It did plenty.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

(Note: While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by several guest columnists, today's being Mr. Pearson's assistant, Jack Anderson, who is also author of the best-seller "McCarthy, The Man, The Senator, The Ism.")

JACK ANDERSON Says: Fleece Artist Takes Uncle Sam For $10,000; V. A. And Treasury Squabble Over Who Gets Stung; Pioneers Rediscover Mare Island.

WASHINGTON. — Federal agents are combing the country for a sharpshooter who fleeced Uncle Sam out of $10,000 and disappeared without a trace.

Not since a con man first sold the Brooklyn bridge has such a slick job been pulled.

Here is the inside story: Last March, the Veterans Administration received a routine insurance claim from George E. Scott of Abbeville, S. C. His son, Air Force Sgt. Johnnie M. Scott, had drowned, leaving $10,000 in G. I. insurance. The father was named beneficiary.

For three months, the claim was painstakingly investigated. Finally all the papers were found in order and a check for $10,000 was made out to George E. Scott.

However, it was not mailed to Scott's home in Abbeville, S. C., but to a rooming house at 701 19th Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.—the address appearing on the claim.

Meanwhile, a stranger moved into the 19th street rooming house and registered as George E. Scott. He minded his own business, asking no questions and answering none. All G-men know is that he was not the deceased sergeant's father.

The mysterious stranger stayed long enough to receive one letter. It came from the Veterans Administration and contained the $10,000 check.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT CASHES CHECK

The morning this important mail arrived, he marched straight to the Treasury Department with the check and demanded payment. Treasury officials looked at the $10,000 figure and shook their heads. They couldn't cash it, they said. The check was too large. Why didn't he take it to his bank?

The man who called himself George E. Scott became indignant. He spoke bitterly of the sacrifices of fallen G. I.s and the way their beneficiaries were kicked around by the government. He threatened to take his complaint all the way to the secretary of the Treasury.

Impressed, the officials wavered in their refusal, agreed to try again. They carried the check from office to office, finally got an O. K. to cash it.

The stranger produced papers identifying himself as George E. Scott. A few minutes later, he walked off with $10,000 in crisp, new Treasury bills. That's the last seen of the spurious George E. Scott or the crisp, new bills.

Agents quickly discovered that the original claim listed the correct Abbeville, S. C., address. Someone had pulled a last-minute switch, substituting the rooming house address.

In other words, the fast-buck artist must have had an inside accomplice, someone who knew exactly the right minute to switch vouchers, agents are convinced. They are investigating all possible suspects, giving lie detector tests to everyone who got near the vouchers. But so far, no clues.

Meanwhile, the Veterans Administration and the Treasury Department got into a squabble over who should make good the $10,000 payment to the real George E. Scott. V. A. claimed it was the Treasury's responsibility for cashing the check for the wrong man. But Treasury insisted that the V. A. should get stung for sending the check to the wrong address.

To settle the dispute, the General Accounting Office was called in and officially blamed the V. A.

MODERN PIONEERS

A band of pioneers, packing typewriters, set out recently to rediscover Mare Island, a long, low strip in California's San Pablo Bay. The purpose was to pave the way for any others who may want to help celebrate the Mare Island naval shipyard's 100th birthday.

The citizens of Vallejo, Calif., are throwing a $200,000 birthday party for the shipyard September 16-19.

The advance press expedition, assembled in New York, Washington and Chicago, crossed the country in a noisy, drafty, but above all, poky, four-engine transport plane. They missed the cross-country speed record by some 20 hours.

They flew so low, in fact, that the New York Herald Tribune's war correspondent, Homer Bigart, eyed the four engines skeptically and concluded: "Two must be decoys."

International News Service columnist Bob Considine almost missed the plane. He told a New York taxi driver: "Hurry to the airport! I've got to get to California in the worst way!"

After bouncing around in the air for several hours, he acknowledged: "I got my wish. I'm going to California in the worst way."

The press gang was greeted at Mare Island by Rear Admiral Fred Eastwistle, shipyard commander, who told all about the yard and also disclosed the incidental intelligence that the martini got its name from a nearby Martinez, Calif. Some went on to rediscover the island, others back to rediscover the martini.

Mare Island took its name from an amphibious mare that somehow was spilled into the brine and swam the treacherous tides to the small island. Local historians dispute whether she was dumped by a capsized raft or an upset ferryboat. In any case, the mare's determined owner, General Vallejo, found her on the island and promptly proclaimed it La Isla De La Yegua. Shortened to unromantic English, this means Mare Island.

The shipyard was founded September 16, 1854, by Commander David G. Farragut, one of the Navy's celebrated heroes. In the century following, the yard has

Noted Chemist's Career a Fluke

ASBURY PARK, N. J. — Dr. William J. Sparks, honored recently as co-discoverer of synthetic rubber, became a chemist by chance.

The 49-year-old Standard Oil Development Co. chemist once found he had more credits in chemistry at Indiana University than in any other subject. He stuck to it because it seemed the easy thing to do.

His decision bore fruit one hot August afternoon 17 years ago when he and a Standard Oil associate, Robert M. Thomas, mixed up the first batch of butyl (synthetic) rubber.

The discovery resulted in birth of a new industry and, more recently, in bestowing upon Sparks one of the nation's highest scientific awards, the gold medal of the American Institute of Chemists.

The synthetic product, described as better than jungle-bred rubber, now is used extensively in manufacture of auto tires. More than 1,000,000,000 car inner tubes made of butyl attest to its air-holding qualities.

But Sparks had a complaint. All the fuss over his butyl formula cut into his golf time. A member of a Mountaineer, N. J. country club, he found less and less time to make his course tour in the mid-80's.

Instead he was busy as chairman of the division of chemistry and chemical technology of the National Research Council and as U. S. delegate to the International Union of Pure and Applied Chemistry in Stockholm. This was in addition to his job as head of the development firm's chemical division.

But his friends say, sadly, that it hasn't hurt his poker any. They describe him as a "straight-faced winner."

Parade Tonight Will Highlight Amvets Convention

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — High-stepping American war veterans will show off their bands and their beauties tonight when they stage a colorful parade down Miami Beach's main street.

The parade, scheduled for 6:30 p. m., will highlight the third day of the 10th annual Amvets convention. The organization is composed of World War II and Korean War veterans.

The parade will feature the kilt-wearing Scot band of Memphis, Tenn., and the highlanders of Muncie, Ind. Precision marching routines will be staged by the Black Knights from Belleville, Ill.

Some 3,000 marchers, bolstered by 15 floats, 10 bands and the nine shapely finalists in the Miss Amvet beauty contest, will march down Lincoln Road. The parade will be headed by the Pennsylvania delegation of National Commander Henry J. Mahady.

Colorado selected the white and lavender columbine as its official state flower in 1899.

CENTRAL ILLINOIS PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY

LOW COST ESSENTIAL SERVICE TO INDUSTRY, BUSINESS, FARM AND HOME

You get a 3-way bonus in the car that's soaring to new success

WHAT has happened in the automobile business this year is something that you should take to heart — as a personal benefit to yourself, and as a sure way to pick a winner.

It is simply this: Buick has moved into the charmed circle of America's three top sales leaders—a circle once dominated only by the so-called "low-price three."

In plainer words — Buick today is outselling all other cars in America except two of these so-called "low-price three." And this has come about because of Buick's advanced year-ahead styling, great V8 power, big-car room and comfort — all for prices starting right close to the lowest. So you reap a worth-while 3-way benefit.

1. You get the look of tomorrow — today

In Buick today you get the modern styling other cars will reach in the future. For here you get true year-ahead beauty — long, low glamor lines, sports-car grace, and that spectacular new panoramic windshield that most other cars won't have till 1955.

2. You get the bigger allowance of our volume business

The tremendous sales volume that has brought Buick into the leadership circle of the "Big Three" means that we can offer you a higher trade-in allowance on your present car when you buy a new Buick. That's the simple reason why we can make you a better deal right now.

3. You get more resale dollars when you trade

With Buick so advanced in style this year it's a sure thing Buick will stay in style for years to come, as other cars catch up. So the new Buick you buy today brings you a higher resale price at trade-in time later. Drop in — see and drive this tomorrow-styled Buick — and get in on Buick's big 3-way bonus right now.

Now's the time to make your buy because —

Union Fights Extension of A-Injunction

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A union attorney asked Federal Judge Robert Taylor today to deny the government an extension of an injunction forbidding a strike of 4,500 CIO atomic production workers at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Paducah, Ky., plants.

Atty. Benjamin Sigal of Washington, representing the Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers union, maintained the government's petition for a full 60-day injunction under the Taft-Hartley Act is invalid.

He said President Eisenhower waited 32 days before ordering the injunction suit filed after receiving a report from a board of inquiry that the strike at the two atomic plants would endanger the national safety.

The attorney said in previous cases where Taft-Hartley injunctions were sought, the President acted within one or two days after receipt of the board's findings.

Government Atty. Edward H. Dickey countered that it is "ridiculous" to try to force a timetable on the President under which he must act in strikes affecting the national safety. He said the law leaves the matter to the President's discretion.

Today's hearing was on whether to extend a temporary injunction granted by Taylor Aug. 11 when the union threatened a strike in its demand for a 15-cent hourly wage increase. Carbide and Carbon Chemicals, the company which operates the Oak Ridge and Paducah plants for the government, offered only 6 cents.

Two Navy Planes Missing in Training Flight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rescue parties searched today for two Navy attack planes missing on a routine training flight and believed to have crashed in what may be the third tragic accident in California in 48 hours involving service planes.

An Air Force B25 crashed in the mountains 50 miles north of here Thursday, killing eight men, and Capt. Joseph McConnell Jr., the nation's top jet ace, was killed Wednesday when he lost control of an F86H Sabre jet he was testing and it crashed.

The two Navy attack planes were believed to be down somewhere between the San Francisco Bay area and Fallon, Nev. The propeller-driven AD6 Skyraiders took off from Moffett Field, 40 miles south of here, at 2:30 a. m. Thursday and had made no radio contact since.

The planes were piloted by Lt. Cmdr. Hubert L. Worrell, 36, Sunnyvale, Calif., and Hutchinson, Kan., and Lt. (j.g.) Roger W. Tillson Jr., 26, Mountain View, Calif., and Middleboro, Mass.

Indiana Farmers Protest Plans for North-South Toll Road

ROMNEY, Ind. (AP) — Hundreds of farmers, disgruntled because the state plans a north-south toll road from Chicago to Indianapolis, considered taking their protest to court today.

Headed by Frank Blacker of Romney, a 10-member committee began a plan of attack to halt at least for the next two or three years action by the Indiana Toll Road Commission to sell bonds and start construction.

The committee was organized at a mass meeting attended by about 300 farmers from nine counties stretching up and down northwestern Indiana through which the road is scheduled to pass.

Hold Mother in Claw Hammer Death Of Her Daughter, 3

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — A 3-year-old girl died today of head injuries inflicted with a claw hammer and authorities filed a formal murder charge against her mother, Mrs. Maxine Gilbertson, 29.

Mrs. Gilbertson earlier confessed that she attacked the child, Angela, Wednesday night.

She said she wanted to "offer the baby to God" rather than have her estranged husband have the child.

The Gilbertsons were separated recently and the wife had filed a suit for separate maintenance. She said her husband repeatedly had tried to take the daughter, their only child, away from her.

Predict Adduci Nomination to Be Rejected

CHICAGO (AP)—Gov. William G. Stratton and two members of the Illinois Electoral Board predicted that the nomination of James J. Adduci, Republican, to the State Legislature would be turned down.

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter and State Auditor Orville Hodges joined the governor Thursday in forecasting that Adduci's nomination would be found invalid.

This opinion represented the majority of the five-man board.

Stratton said he thought there was valid evidence that James Bernardi, senatorial chairman of Adduci's district, lives outside the district.

This would invalidate the election of Bernardi to the chairmanship and in turn the nomination of Adduci. The legal residence of Roland J. Ciangi, another member of the three-man group, was also under fire.

Given Free Ride

The committee headed by Bernardi gave Adduci what amounted to a free ride to the Legislature, since his only opposition bowed out. Adduci quit the Legislature in 1952 after becoming involved in the Cook county "phantom payroll" scandal.

"If proof is offered as to Bernardi's non-residence, I would think the State Electoral Board would have to turn down Adduci's nominating commission," Stratton said.

Some legal observers said the third Adduci backer, Francis M. Tufano, now may be enabled to select a nominee himself. They said he had apparently met the residence requirements.

Assistant Attorney General Bernard Genis, in what he called a "curbstone opinion," said he believed Adduci's nomination was fraudulent.

Fragments of A-Cannon Shell Hit Rooftops

BAUMHOLDER, Germany (AP)—A "premature air burst" by a conventional high explosive shell fired from a giant atomic cannon damaged rooftops in two nearby towns Thursday night, the U. S. Army reported today.

An Army spokesman emphasized that the shellhead was non-atomic and was intended for the impact area at the Baumholder artillery range.

A terse Army announcement said the shell did "minor damage" to rooftops in the villages of Bledesch and Ehwiler in the district of Kusel. No one was injured, the Army said.

This was believed to be the first admission by the Army that it is firing 280-millimeter shells over German villages in practice.

The location of the premature explosion—an infrequent but not unusual occurrence in artillery firing—was in the French Zone of Germany on the west side of the Rhine River and not far from the Saar Valley.

Police at Kusel said villagers at Bledesch and Ehwiler were "shocked" by the explosion over their heads.

The Army has 30 of the 85-ton cannons in Germany. They can propel either atomic or conventional explosives for a distance of "about 20 miles."

For this reason, the Army spokesman noted, it would be almost impossible to avoid shooting over some inhabited area in any test firing at maximum range.

American League Winner Favored IN THE Sport Parade

By JACK CUDDY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK — No matter who wins the pennants, the American League is almost certain to be favored in the World Series, a careful bookmaker said today, thereby reopening that never-ending argument over which major circuit is the stronger.

Since the American League practically always wins the World Series, then just why the argument? Especially this year when the hairy Harridge boys also won the All-Star classic from the jovial Gilesmen.

The bookmaker, who has retreated from Broadway into the quieter and safer pastures of the Bronx, says he isn't quoting any odds until he knows what teams will be playing in the World Series. But either the Indians or Yankees will have to be favorites over the Giants, Dodgers, or Braves in his book.

More Bets On NL

Yet on daily baseball betting he gets twice the volume of play on National League games and on many that run up now these days in the American none of the bookmakers are even accepting small bets because the odds are too prohibitive.

These "out" games in the American involve the Indians, Yankees, and sometimes the White Sox, whenever they play the Orioles or Athletics because those teams are so weak it is considered no contest.

Others on the baseball scene besides the bookies have noted the oddity that the American produces invariably one or two strong and dominant teams, but the National has the strength from top to bottom.

It is significant that already with more than a month to go, fourth-place Detroit has been mathematically eliminated from any chance at the American League flag, but in the National, seventh-place Chicago still has not been counted out by the statisticians.

Cubs Can Be Spoilers

The Cubs, moreover, can be exciting in their role of spoilers from now on. The Giants found out Thursday how troublesome they can be and it was the same way last week end when Milwaukee's Madeaps ran into trouble in the Windy City. Brooklyn soon will have to invade Chicago and yet the Cubs are just one team with a high nuisance factor.

No matter how disappointing they have been at times all season, the Cardinals, Phillies, and Redlegs can be counted on to give more trouble from now on because the three are staging a fight for fourth place and the solid chunk of World Series money it means.

Another point worth noting is that in the close race that is likely in the National right down to the wire, the team which eventually

Palace, Walker's Win Championships In Kiwanis Play

Two championships were decided in the Kiwanis league Thursday with the Palace and Walker's winning the series in their leagues. Palace defeated AAA, 38-7, and Walker's won their third straight from the Cokes, 6-2. In other play-off games Ronnie's defeated the All Stars, 13-7, and the Jaycees and Shells battled to a 6-6 deadlock with the game called on account of darkness.

Palace scored an incredible 23 runs in the first inning and then coasted to their 38-7 victory over the AAA.

Ronnie's evened the series in the III league at two all as they trounced the all-stars, 13-7, for the second straight day. Ronnie's only got three hits, but walks, errors and hit batsmen helped them get the necessary runs. King was the winning hurler and C. Henshaw was the loser.

The all-stars going to Herrin Saturday will leave from the town park at 12:30 sharp.

U. of I. Center, Here on Poster Tour is High in Praise of Fred 'Catfish' Wilmoth

Jack Chamblin, senior center of the University of Illinois football team and former all-state performer from Robinson, visited Harrisburg yesterday on a statewide tour distributing posters for the 1954 Illinois season and he was high in his praise of "Fred 'Catfish' Wilmoth, sophomore Illinois lineman from Harrisburg.

With Chamblin was Chuck Flynn, publicity man for the U. of I. Athletic association.

Both said that Wilmoth, 270-pound tackle, learned a lot in spring training and should do a lot of football playing this fall on the Illinois varsity.

"He's sure a hard boy to bring down," said Chamblin.

"He looks plenty tough on defense," remarked Flynn.

Both Optimistic

Regarding prospects for the 1954 season, both were optimistic although they qualified their remarks.

If the good boys who lack experience develop and if the team is fortunate regarding accidents, Illinois should be a contender for the Big Ten football title, they said.

Chief problems, they said, are inexperience at ends and tackles, the need of a good linebacker-fullback, and a quarterback with all the necessary requirements.

"If we could take the good points of all our candidates and put them together we'd have one whole of a quarterback," Flynn declared.

The strong points, Flynn continued, are: The team looks solid at center and guards, and there are plenty of good running backs.

No. One at Center

At center Chamblin is the No. 1 boy. He is a transfer from the United States Military academy and broke into the Illinois lineup for the first time last season, playing both at guard and as center-linebacker. Standing 5-11 and weighing a solid 200, he is a fine blocker and rugged on defense.

Behind him are junior Jim Minor, from Chicago's Leo, and two sophomores, Larry Pasko, all-American as a prep player from St. George of Evanston, and Mike Guinan, center on Terry Brennan's championship team at Chicago's Mt. Carmel.

At guard are Capt. Jan Smid, Walley Vernasco and Bucky Tate, all season-long players, and a good boy named Walsh, a junior from Atwood.

Roger Wolfe is the only returning letterman at tackle and the two boys looking best for the other regular spot are Wilmoth of Harrisburg and Floyd McAfee, a junior.

Three at Quarterback

There are two lettermen, Steve Nosek of Chicago and Bob Wiman of Robinson, available at end but Wiman is a candidate for fullback this year. There are three juniors, however, who looked good in spring training and Coach Ray Eliot is hoping they come through. They are Herb Badal and Bob DesFantes of Chicago and Dean Renn of West Frankfort.

At quarterback are Em Linbeck and Bob Gongola, with some experience, and Hiles Stout, Peoria sophomore. Halfbacks getting the most attention are J. C. Carroll, the All-American last year, and Jefferson, a sophomore from New York state, at left halfback; and Abe Woodhull of Chicago and Bobby Graeff of Murphysboro at right halfback.

There were 25 candidates out for fullback in spring training and the four top candidates, Flynn said, were Mickey Bates, Bob Wiman, Baird Stewart and Dick Rosenberg. Rosenberg is a transfer student from Mississippi.

Russia Takes Big Lead in European Games

BERNE, Switzerland — Russia's large and powerful team barged into the third day of the European track and field games today with a big lead in the unofficial team race, thanks mainly to the same power in women's events it showed in the 1952 Olympics.

Including 37 points gleaned from women's competition, the Russians had a total of 65 points in the race compared to a total of 37 for second-place Czechoslovakia.

Germany, proud of its first gold medal of the games with a record-breaking effort by Heinz Fuetterer in the 100-meter dash, was third with 24 points, followed by Britain with 22, Finland with 14, Sweden with 12, Poland with eight, France and Hungary with five each, Yugoslavia with four, Switzerland with three and Holland with one.

The points are awarded unofficially on a 10-5-4-3-2-1 basis for the first six placings in each event.

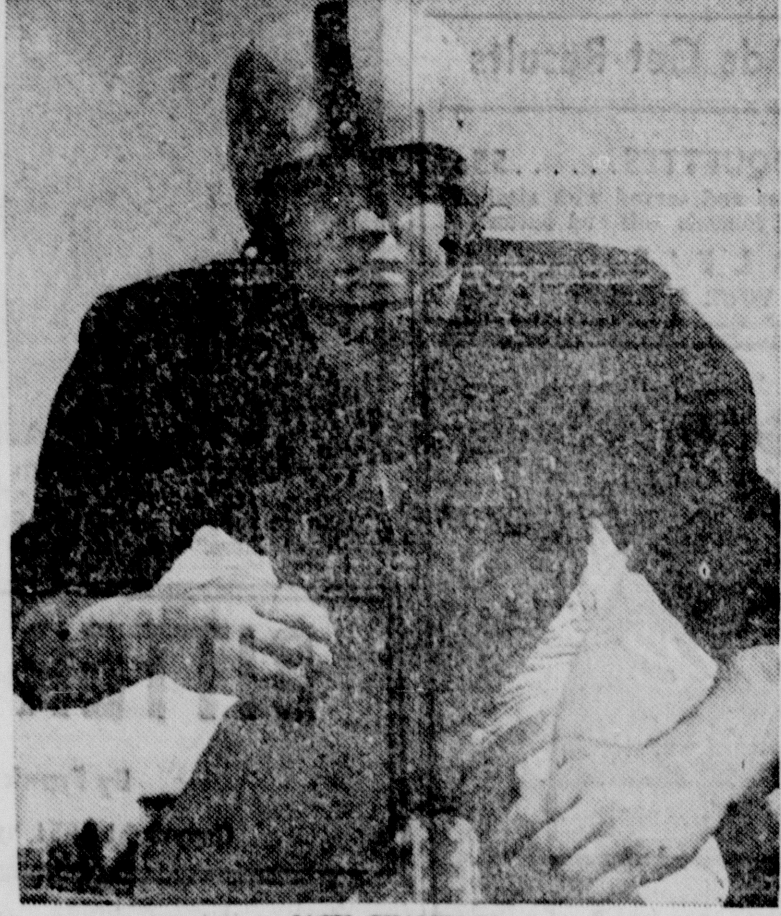

The Soviets won two of the five gold medals awarded in Thursday's competition with a triumph by Galina Zybina in the women's shot put and world record holder Leonid Cherbakov in the men's hop, step and jump. Both established meet records.

In addition to these two and Fuetterer, other gold medals went to Joseph Dolezal of Czechoslovakia with a meet record in the 10-kilometer walk and Miss Jean Desford of Britain in the women's 800-meter dash.

But appearances by Britain's Dr. Roger Bannister and Czechoslovakia's Emil Zatopek in trial heats of other races almost stole the show.

Bannister, the only four-minute miler competing now that Australia's Johnny Landy has virtually retired, easily qualified for next Sunday's finals of the 1,500-meter run, the so-called "metric mile," by placing third in a trial heat. Zatopek, who already has won the 10,000-meter crown in this tournament, qualified for the 5,000-meter finals by finishing fifth in a heat.

The force that raises the sap of a tree is so great that it could lift the fluid to the top of a tree almost a mile high.

Bobby Thomson Warms Up His Big Bat as Braves to Meet Giants and Dodgers

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press Sports Writer

Bobby Thomson, the gangling Scot who hit one of baseball's most dramatic home runs in 1951, appears to have his big bat ready for the weekend invasion of Milwaukee by the two teams involved in that historic blow—the Giants and Dodgers.

Thomson's three-run homer in the ninth inning of the final 1951 playoff game against the Dodgers made baseball history and gave New York the National League pennant. Bobby, who suffered a broken ankle last spring, started games for the Braves for the first time as Milwaukee swept three from the Phillies to warm up for Friday night's meeting with the Giants.

Six Games With Contenders

Milwaukee, winner of 25 of its last 31 games, has two games with New York and begins four with Brooklyn Sunday. Thomson got two hits Tuesday and three Thursday as Milwaukee edged the Phillies, 3-2, to trail the first-place Giants by 6 1/2 games and second-place Brooklyn by three. He has 11 hits in 22 times at bat for a .500 average.

While Bobby tested his ankle in left field, the Giants allowed the Braves to pick up a half-game by splitting a double-header with the Cubs. New York won the second, 2-1, after losing the first, 4-3, to snap a seven-game winning streak. Johnny Antonelli of the Giants boosted his record to 19-3 in winning the nightcap.

Yanks, Tribe Keep Pace

While the runner-up Dodgers were idle in the National, the second-place New York Yankees defeated the Detroit Tigers, 11-2, but again failed to gain on Cleveland in the American League. After New York won in the afternoon, the Indians kept their margin at 4 1/2 games by scoring a 2-1 night triumph over the Senators on Al Smith's homer and Early Wynn's two-hit pitching.

In other American league night games, the Baltimore Orioles snapped a 14-game losing streak by beating the Boston Red Sox, 5-3, and the Chicago White Sox split a double-header with the Philadelphia Athletics. Chicago won, 8-1, but dropped the second game, 4-1. The Pittsburgh Pirates beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 2-1, in the only National league night game.

Errors by relief pitcher Mary Grissom and second baseman Davey Williams helped the Cubs score twice in the eighth to win the opener at Chicago although Willie Mays got four hits, including his 28th homer, for the Giants. Ralph Kiner's 20th homer was the only run given up by Antonelli in the second game.

O'Connell Hits Big One

Danny O'Connell provided the decisive blow against the Phillies by singling with the bases loaded in the bottom of the ninth at Milwaukee.

Smith broke a 1-1 tie at Washington.

104 HTHS Athletes Receive Physical Exams

Physical examinations were given 104 HTHS athletes yesterday in preparation for the first session of football practice, which will start Monday at 6 a. m.

The examinations, given at Dav-epout gym, were for students who expect to compete in any sport during the year.

Approximately 70 are expected out for football Monday.

49 Receive Grid Equipment At Eldorado High

Equipment was issued to 49 candidates for the Eldorado high school football team Wednesday and Thursday, Coach Al Adams has announced.

Only upperclassmen have received equipment so far and the call for freshmen will not be issued until after school starts, Sept. 1. In the group to receive equipment were 19 sophomores and 30 juniors and seniors.

Freshman coach Charles Leonard says he expects about 25 freshmen to draw equipment.

First practice session is listed for 8 a. m. Monday and there will be another practice either that afternoon or evening, depending on the weather. The same schedule will hold for Tuesday. Then school starts and practice will probably be held to one session—in the afternoon after school is over for the day.

Adams stated today that four players he had counted on failed to draw equipment and he wasn't sure if they planned to play football at ETHS this year.

Two Fail to Show Up

Included in the four is Gene Barrett, co-captain and veteran back who has moved to Carbondale and his status is definitely established. However, three others are in doubt.

James Nalley, a reserve end, has spent the summer out of the state and has not returned to Eldorado and two regulars on last year's fine freshman-sophomore squad have not shown up. They are Clarence Roberts, lineman, and Acie Gwaltney, speedy back.

Gwaltney probably figured in Adams' plans more than the others, excluding Barrett. He played fine ball as a freshman and again last year, racing through all opposition for long gains and also showed lots of promise when moved up to the varsity.

However, it is still possible all three will be in school as Adams said he hadn't heard that they wouldn't and he believed the boys would let him know as they had indicated at the end of school that they would be back for another season.

BITTER SAGE

"Kinnaird is a very able man, there's no question of that," said Packard thoughtfully. "Except for his former affiliation . . . He drew a deep breath and exhaled heavily. "Give me an hour. I'll talk to the others."
"I'll start writing this up."
"Good. Oh—I've been thinking. Miller's not going to get a great deal of advertising during the next few weeks so I thought I'd take a rather large ad this week. A half page."
"I doubt if Mr. Miller would accept a charity ad."
Packard grinned. "The only charity is for myself." He waved about the store. "See any customers?"

Tancred returned to the Star shop and sat down at a table. He found Mrs. Miller busily scribbling at her husband's desk.
"Did you get the story?" she asked.

"Yes." He hesitated. "Would you like me to write it up?"
"I'd appreciate it if you would." Tancred got a pencil and some paper and went to a table at the rear of the shop. He thought for a moment, then began to write swiftly.

He was still at it when Packard entered the office. Tancred got up and went forward.
"We've decided to accept Lee Kinnaird," the merchant said.

"I don't think you're making a mistake." Packard smiled and took a sheet of paper from his pocket. "I brought along the ad I talked to you about and I also talked to the others. They'll all have ads for you."

"Ads!" exclaimed Mrs. Miller. "I hadn't even given that a thought."

"We've got to advertise to stay in business. At least until the election." Packard paused. "If we lost that, we lose everything."

Packard left the shop and Tancred finished writing the story about the forthcoming election. When he finished it, he took it to Mrs. Miller. She scanned it quickly and when she finished she looked at Tancred worriedly.

"Isn't it, a—little strong?"

"I don't know. I tried to write it the way I thought Mr. Miller would write it."

"That's what I meant. It sounds just as if he had written it. I—I have a feeling that he would like it very much."

Tancred looked at her inquiringly. She nodded suddenly. "Set it up." Then, as Tancred turned away: "Oh—John, you write very well. How is it you haven't had a newspaper of your own?"

"I'm a printer."

Tancred took the copy back to the type cases and began to set it up. Mose Hudkins was already working on the local news that Mrs. Miller had written.

The second trail herd had reached Sage City that morning and the cowboys were in town, roaming the streets. As yet they hadn't been paid, but the owner of the herd was expected to reach Sage City the next day.

Lee Kinnaird walked down South Street and made a mental list of the enterprises that Jacob Fugger owned or controlled. There was the Fugger Mercantile Company, where Jacob made his headquarters. The Sage City Livery Stables and Corral were owned outright by Jacob as was the hay and feed business and the lumber yard down by the K & W tracks. The Fugger Produce Company, which dealt in buffalo and cattle hides and shipped 100 carloads of buffalo bones every season was another fully owned Fugger business.

Joe Handy was the nominal owner of the Sage City Hotel, but it was pretty generally known in town that Fugger had a large mortgage on the place. It was not generally known that Fugger controlled McCoy's Saloon, but the bank held a note of McCoy's. Horace Van Meter was the cashier, but he owned less than one-tenth of the stock. Fugger owned 55 per cent.

Morgan Holt apparently owned his hardware store, but he was under some sort of financial obligation to Fugger.

The largest single source of revenue to Jacob wasn't really a business at all; it was a simple agreement he had made with the Kansas & Western Railroad back in '71 when Sage City had sprung up from the prairie. The railroad paid Fugger $1 for every steer that was shipped from Sage City. With the exception of the first year, when Jacob had spent money to put up the loading pens which were attached to the railroad siding, all of this revenue was clear profit. Fugger bought no cattle and he sold no cattle.

The K & W paid Fugger a great deal of money every year, but it had a realistic attitude about it.

It would probably receive much of the freight without Fugger's assistance, but it would lose much of it, too. The eastern Kansas towns that had once shipped considerable number of steers gave the railroad virtually no such freight today.

The western settlements, closer to the beef trade, cut down the traveling time of trail herds by days.

Fugger diverted many thousands of head of steers from going to the Union Pacific in the north. He cultivated the friendship of the Texas cattle drovers and encouraged them to bring herds to Sage City. The K & W railroad did not mind paying the dollar a head toll to Fugger of Sage City for cattle that might have gone to other points where they would have been shipped on other lines.

Kinnaird walked down to the railroad depot and saw restless, bawling steers milling around in Fugger's loading pens. A cattle train had been shoved onto the siding and was being loaded for an eastward trip.

Hoover Commission to Study Waste in Overseas Economic Operations

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (U.P.) — Former President Hoover's Commission on Government Organization is about to lay hands on some costly, complex and considerably disorganized spending of the taxpayers' money abroad.

The inquiry will be limited to overseas economic operations. Henning W. Prentiss Jr., of Lancaster, Pa., board chairman of Armstrong Cork, will direct the task force assigned to examine overseas economic operations.

Harold E. Stassen's Foreign Operations Administration has the investigators' top priority. The taskmen also will seek to turn up duplication among efforts of United States Point Four operations and similar work by United Nations agencies for which American taxpayers pay a big share of the costs. They seek, also, duplication in such work among Stassen's FOA, and the State and Commerce departments.

Record Shows Waste

The record already shows that Prentiss and his aides will find room for economy, improvement and reorganization. Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) returned some months ago from a swing through 21 nations in Africa and South Asia. Ellender reported: "I was shocked and distressed at the vast, and at times, unrealistic form of United States technical assistance (Point Four) efforts are assuming throughout the world."

"The entire operation is in urgent need of re-examination, re-evaluation and re-implementation," said Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) reporting nearly a year ago on a study mission to France, Italy, Nepal and Indochina.

"The independent existence of the Foreign Operations Administration and the Information Agency should be terminated forthwith. Both agencies, even though they might remain quasi-autonomous, should be clearly brought under the State Department."

Complaints Of Duplication

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) complained that at least three United States agencies operating overseas were maintaining their own information and exchange of persons programs, at considerable needless cost by reason of duplication.

Among the complaints against various overseas operations are over-staffing, duplication and expansion of some operations far beyond the scope intended by Congress. This latter complaint against Point Four in some areas was especially noted by Ellender. He said the technical know-how which Point Four was to make available to areas where it was needed was being expanded into a form of economic aid with large cash outlays for equipment and such. Point Four was not intended to do that at all.

Tropical Storm Off Florida

United Press

A tropical storm of near hurricane force gathered strength today off the Florida coast and vicious winds and torrential rains battered parts of the Midwest.

The Atlantic storm, located about 320 miles east of Jacksonville, Fla., packed winds of 65 to 70 miles per hour, but its northward course was slowed to a near halt.

It was feared earlier that the storm would hit the North Carolina coast if it moved too far north. Despite the slowdown, all shipping in the area was warned to show caution.

The Midwest storms followed a refreshing cool wave that streamed all the way to Maine. Devastating winds swept the Indianapolis, Ind., area Thursday, and Des Moines, Iowa, was doused with 2.74 inches of rain.

Temperatures dropped 22 degrees in Caribou, Maine, as the cool wave hit and in Chicago the mercury slipped seven degrees to a cool 73. The nation's southern half, however, was hot and 90-degree temperatures were common from Southern California to Florida and Alabama.

High temperatures Thursday included 103 at Yuma and Gila Bend, Ariz., and 101 at Montgomery, Ala., Fort Worth, Tex., and Russell, Kan.

aid bill a proviso that the Foreign Operations Administration go out of business June 30, 1955. Its surviving duties would be transferred to the Defense and State Departments.

The taxpayers' interest in the Hoover Commission study may be measured by the fact that with the current fiscal year less than two months old, foreign aid operators had spent 726 million dollars. It is believed that better organization would enable the administration considerably to reduce costs.

Famous Trichologist Tells Truth About Saving And Improving Hair

This new method of home treatment for saving and growing thicker hair will be demonstrated in Harrisburg, Ill., Sunday, Only, Aug. 29, 1954. These private, individual demonstrations will be held at the Horning Hotel on Sunday Only, Aug. 29, 2 to 9 P. M.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 20 — In an interview here today, D. Russell Collins, internationally famous trichologist and director of the Collins Hair and Scalp Experts, Inc., said, "There are 18 different scalp disorders that cause most men and women to lose hair. Using common sense, a person must realize no one tonic or so called cure-all could correct all the disorders," he explained.

GUARANTEED
"The Collins firm, recognizing that most people are skeptical of claims that hair can be grown on balding heads, offers a guarantee," Collins said.

Once a person avails himself to the Collins treatment his skepticism immediately disappears. To insure this, we offer this guarantee. "If you are not completely satisfied with your hair progress at the end of 30 days your money will be returned."

HOPELESS CASES DISCOURAGED
First the Collins specialists are quick to tell hopeless cases that they cannot be helped. But the "hopeless cases are few." Only if a man is completely, shiny bald is he in this lost category.

If there is fuzz, no matter how light, thin, or colorless, the Collins firm can perform wonders.

Every one is given a complete, private examination to determine the condition of his scalp, and cause for his hair trouble.

FREE EXAMINATION
This examination is very thorough and highly technical; it requires 20 to 30 minutes. There is no charge for this examination and no appointment is necessary.

After the examination he is told the required length of treatment and how much it will cost.

After starting treatment, he makes regular reports to the Collins firm in Oklahoma City, and a trichologist will return to check his progress periodically.

To spread the opportunity of normal, healthy hair to the thousands who are desperately looking for help, the Collins firm is sending specialists to various cities throughout the United States to conduct examinations and start home treatment.

NO CURE-ALL
"We have no cure-all for slick, shiny baldness," Collins emphasizes. "If there is fuzz, the root is still capable of creating hair and we can perform what seems to be a miracle."

There is one thing Collins wants to be certain every man and woman knows. If a recession appears at the temples or a spot begins to show up on the crown of the head, there is something wrong and it should be given immediate attention.

HAIR FOR LIFETIME
"If clients follow our directions during treatment and after they finish the course, there is no reason why they will not have hair all the rest of their lives," Collins said.

"Our firm is definitely behind this treatment; it all depends on the individual client's faithful observation of a few simple rules."

HOW'S YOUR HAIR?
If it worries you call Trichologist Rev. Ochs at the Horning Hotel in Harrisburg, Ill., on Sunday Only, Aug. 29, 2 P. M. to 9 P. M. The public is invited.

You do not need an appointment. The examinations are private and you will not be embarrassed or obligated in any way.—Adv.
